ABOUT MCN

The Maryland Construction Network (MCN) has an unwavering commitment and dedication to the success of everyone engaged in the construction industry. Honesty, allegiance, and love of the industry are of paramount importance.

The way our industry conducts business has changed dramatically. We can expect that rate of change to continue.

Supporting infrastructure for businesses in the construction industry, however, is unchanged and stagnant.

Few trade (or membership) organizations have adjusted to the evolving needs of their membership. Few are in-touch with the economic challenges facing our industry. Few have recognized, or taken advantage of, the positive impact technology has had on the construction process. Few have measured up to their memberships' expectations; preserving "the machine that has been created" rather than "creating the organization that is needed." Until now!

Rob Bertazon (Founder) and Verna Regler (Partner) have a comprehensive understanding of the construction industry. Their combined experience and expertise are an invaluable asset to Maryland's construction community.

Under their leadership and direction, the Maryland Construction Network will provide businesses; small and large, with an affordable and effective vehicle to cultivate connections, develop relationships, and increase profitability.
